

What prevents a Forklift from tipping over?

Forklift construction is a designed cantilevered balance where the load that is carried by the forks is supported by the forklifts front wheels acting as a fulcrum. The weight of the forklift machine itself acts as a counterbalance to keep the device from tipping over.